Harrison AED Donation

Central Maine Heart and Vascular Institute (CMHVI), a member of the Central Maine Medical Family, in collaboration with Tri-County EMS, has received a grant to purchase 80 automatic external defibrillators (AED) over the next two years. AEDs are currently being distributed across rural, central, and western Maine. In order to do so, both agencies have worked closely with emergency medical services (EMS) and community partners. United Ambulance Service is one of five ambulance agencies that participated as a member on the AED Grant Advisory Committee. United Ambulance helped in identifying specific areas in need of an AED within their coverage area. United will assist Tri-County EMS in providing ongoing training and support for the recipients of the AEDs. Harrison Fire Department is one of many agencies receiving a Defibtech AED, which will be placed on Engine 2.
